TELUS Intercompany Service with Cisco TelePresence

Today's business issues.

Finding ways to do everything smarter, faster and better drives every successful enterprise. In a world moving at light speed, the ability to change course quickly, maintain critical relationships, collaborate globally and streamline decision making is key to gaining competitive advantage.

A new level of communication and collaboration.

Now there is a smarter, faster, better way to interact and collaborate with clients, partners, prospects, suppliers and colleagues. TELUS Intercompany Service with Cisco TelePresence™ enables participants to hold true in-person meetings with people in different locations and organizations around the world – in real time, face-to-face and near life size. This turnkey service leverages the combined strengths of TELUS, an industry leader in communications, and Cisco, the worldwide leader in networking. Our respective expertise and experience bring unparalleled design, delivery, implementation and management of best-in-class IP telephony, collaboration and networking solutions in Canada. Together, we deliver an incomparable communication and collaboration service.

TELUS Intercompany Service with Cisco TelePresence utilizes a VPN network and service connection, delivering high levels of reliability, scalability and security and an optimum ROI. There are no large up-front capital costs, cost savings are significant, and the technology never becomes obsolete.

Cisco TelePresence features high-definition 1080p video and High Definition audio that conveys the subtleties of human interaction by capturing eye contact, facial expressions, voice tonality and body language to deliver a uniquely immersive, interpersonal experience over the network. All participants have a 'near life size' seat at the meeting table. One or multiple screens create a dynamic, natural across-the-table experience for all participants, forming the illusion of being in the same room. It is quick and easy to connect any Cisco TelePresence-enabled location and have an in-person meeting experience – within your organization or externally with partners.

Advanced technologies deliver a dynamic meeting experience.

TELUS Intercompany Service with Cisco TelePresence is more than just a tool for communication and collaboration. It employs today's most innovative communication technologies to help ensure meetings are seamless, productive and efficient:

- Initiating a call is done on a telephone keypad – no confusing remote-control keypads or complex logins
- The network provides the same high availability and quality of service as dial tone so you can always rely on it
- Security has been architected into the solution so that your network is never exposed to any of the external participants nor outside hackers

Gain measurable benefits that foster a competitive edge.

Transform the way you do business within and outside your organization:

- Foster close stakeholder collaboration. Enable organizations to strengthen relationships with stakeholders through face-to-face meetings and immersive communication – anywhere, anytime.
- Accelerate decision making. Connect with geographically dispersed colleagues, clients and partners across a 'virtual table' to cultivate shorter decision-making times, speed time to market, scale scarce resources and subject matter experts, grow operations and increase productivity.
- Support corporate green initiatives. Leverage this environmentally friendly technology to reduce carbon emissions and eliminate business travel within your organization and throughout your immediate value chain.
- Extend your Cisco TelePresence investment. Conduct TelePresence meetings not only internally with your colleagues but also externally with your strategic partners or clients.
